Learning that drives engagement & performance:

Courses

Courses are where you develop and add learning materials and activities for your participants to complete. Courses contain Modules, which in turn contain Questions. Once created, you can add content and reorganize Courses according to your participants' needs.

Modules

Modules are the components of a Course. You can have several Modules in each Course. Once you've created all the different parts of the Module, you can play around with it and add new features, media, questions, and settings according to your participants' needs. To move through the Course, members have to complete each Module sequentially.

Questions

There are five types of questions for you to test the knowledge level of your participants, including multiple choice, single choice, short answer, statement (true of false), matching Options (pairs). You can also combine them to make your course experience more dynamic and enjoyable.

Fielo is SCORM 1.2 compatible and supports multiple content media, including videos, audio images, and PDFs.
